

Webinar

Driving alignment at scale: A health system's approach to technology implementation

Julie Allen

System Director, Acute Care Management
Bon Secours Mercy Health

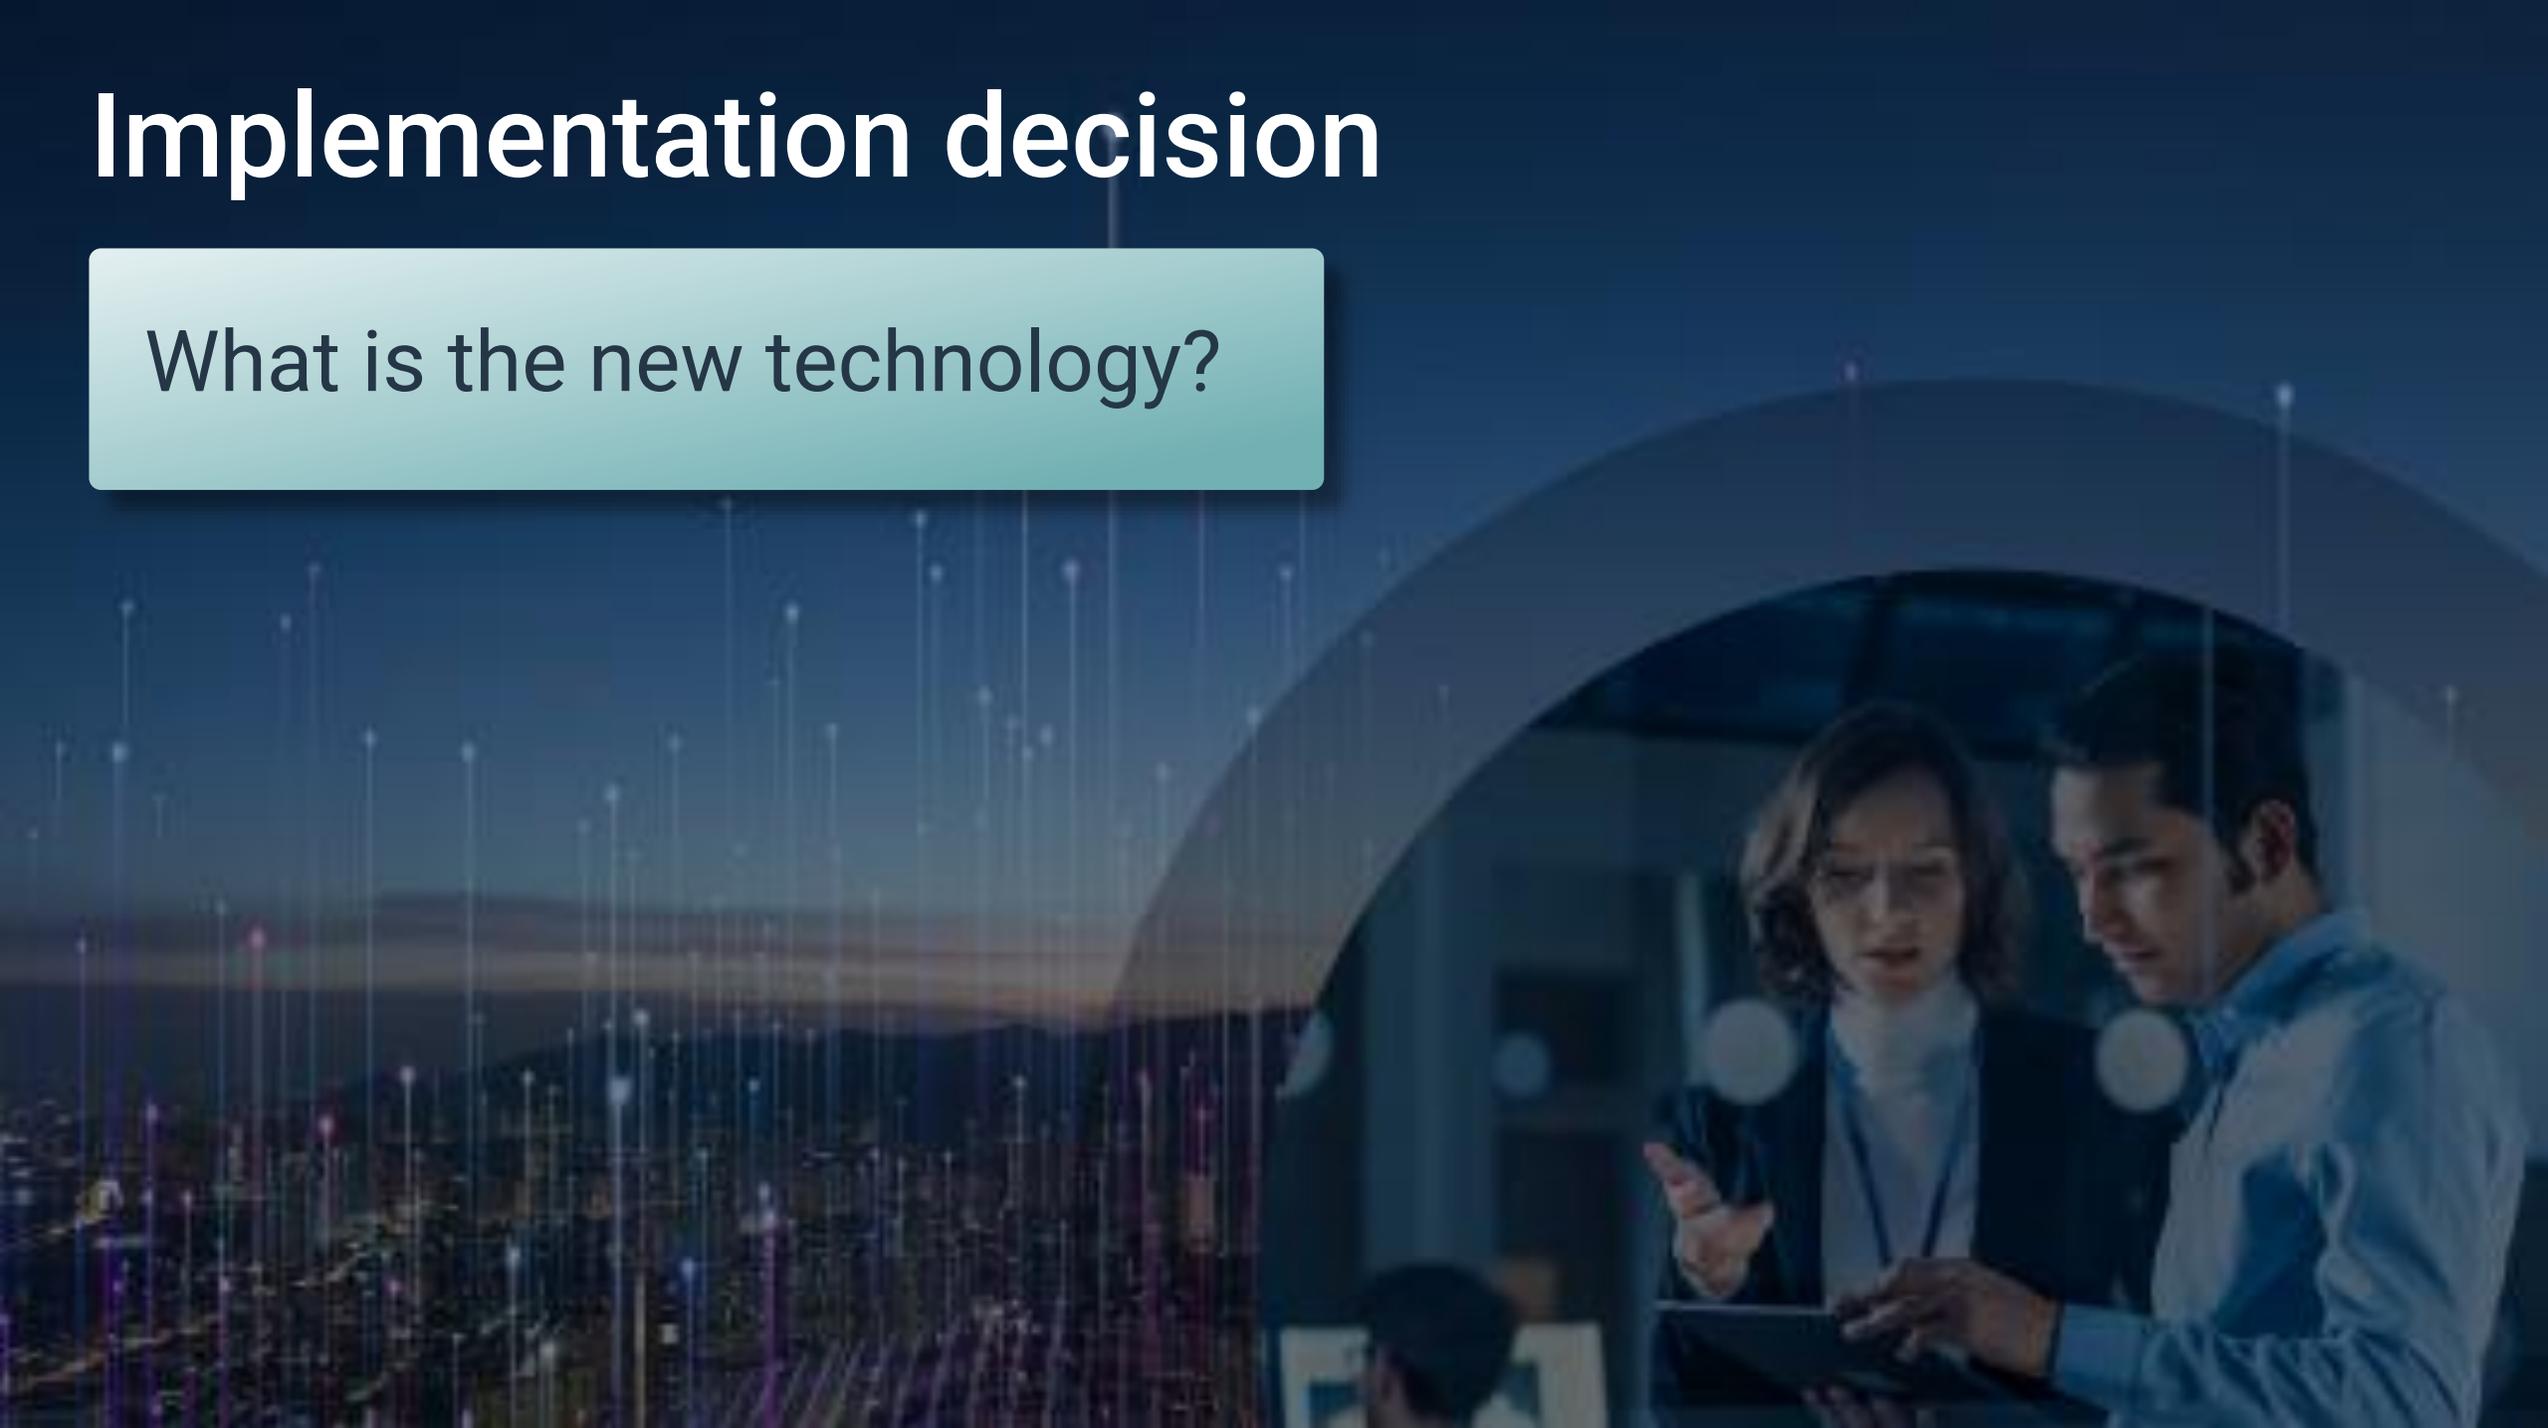

Tuesday, March 24 | 12:00 p.m. ET

WellSky

Implementation decision

The background of the slide features a dark blue, futuristic cityscape at night, with numerous vertical lines of light and data points scattered across the scene. In the foreground, there is a blurred image of two people, a woman and a man, in a modern office setting. The woman is pointing at a tablet held by the man, and they both appear to be focused on the device. The overall aesthetic is high-tech and professional.

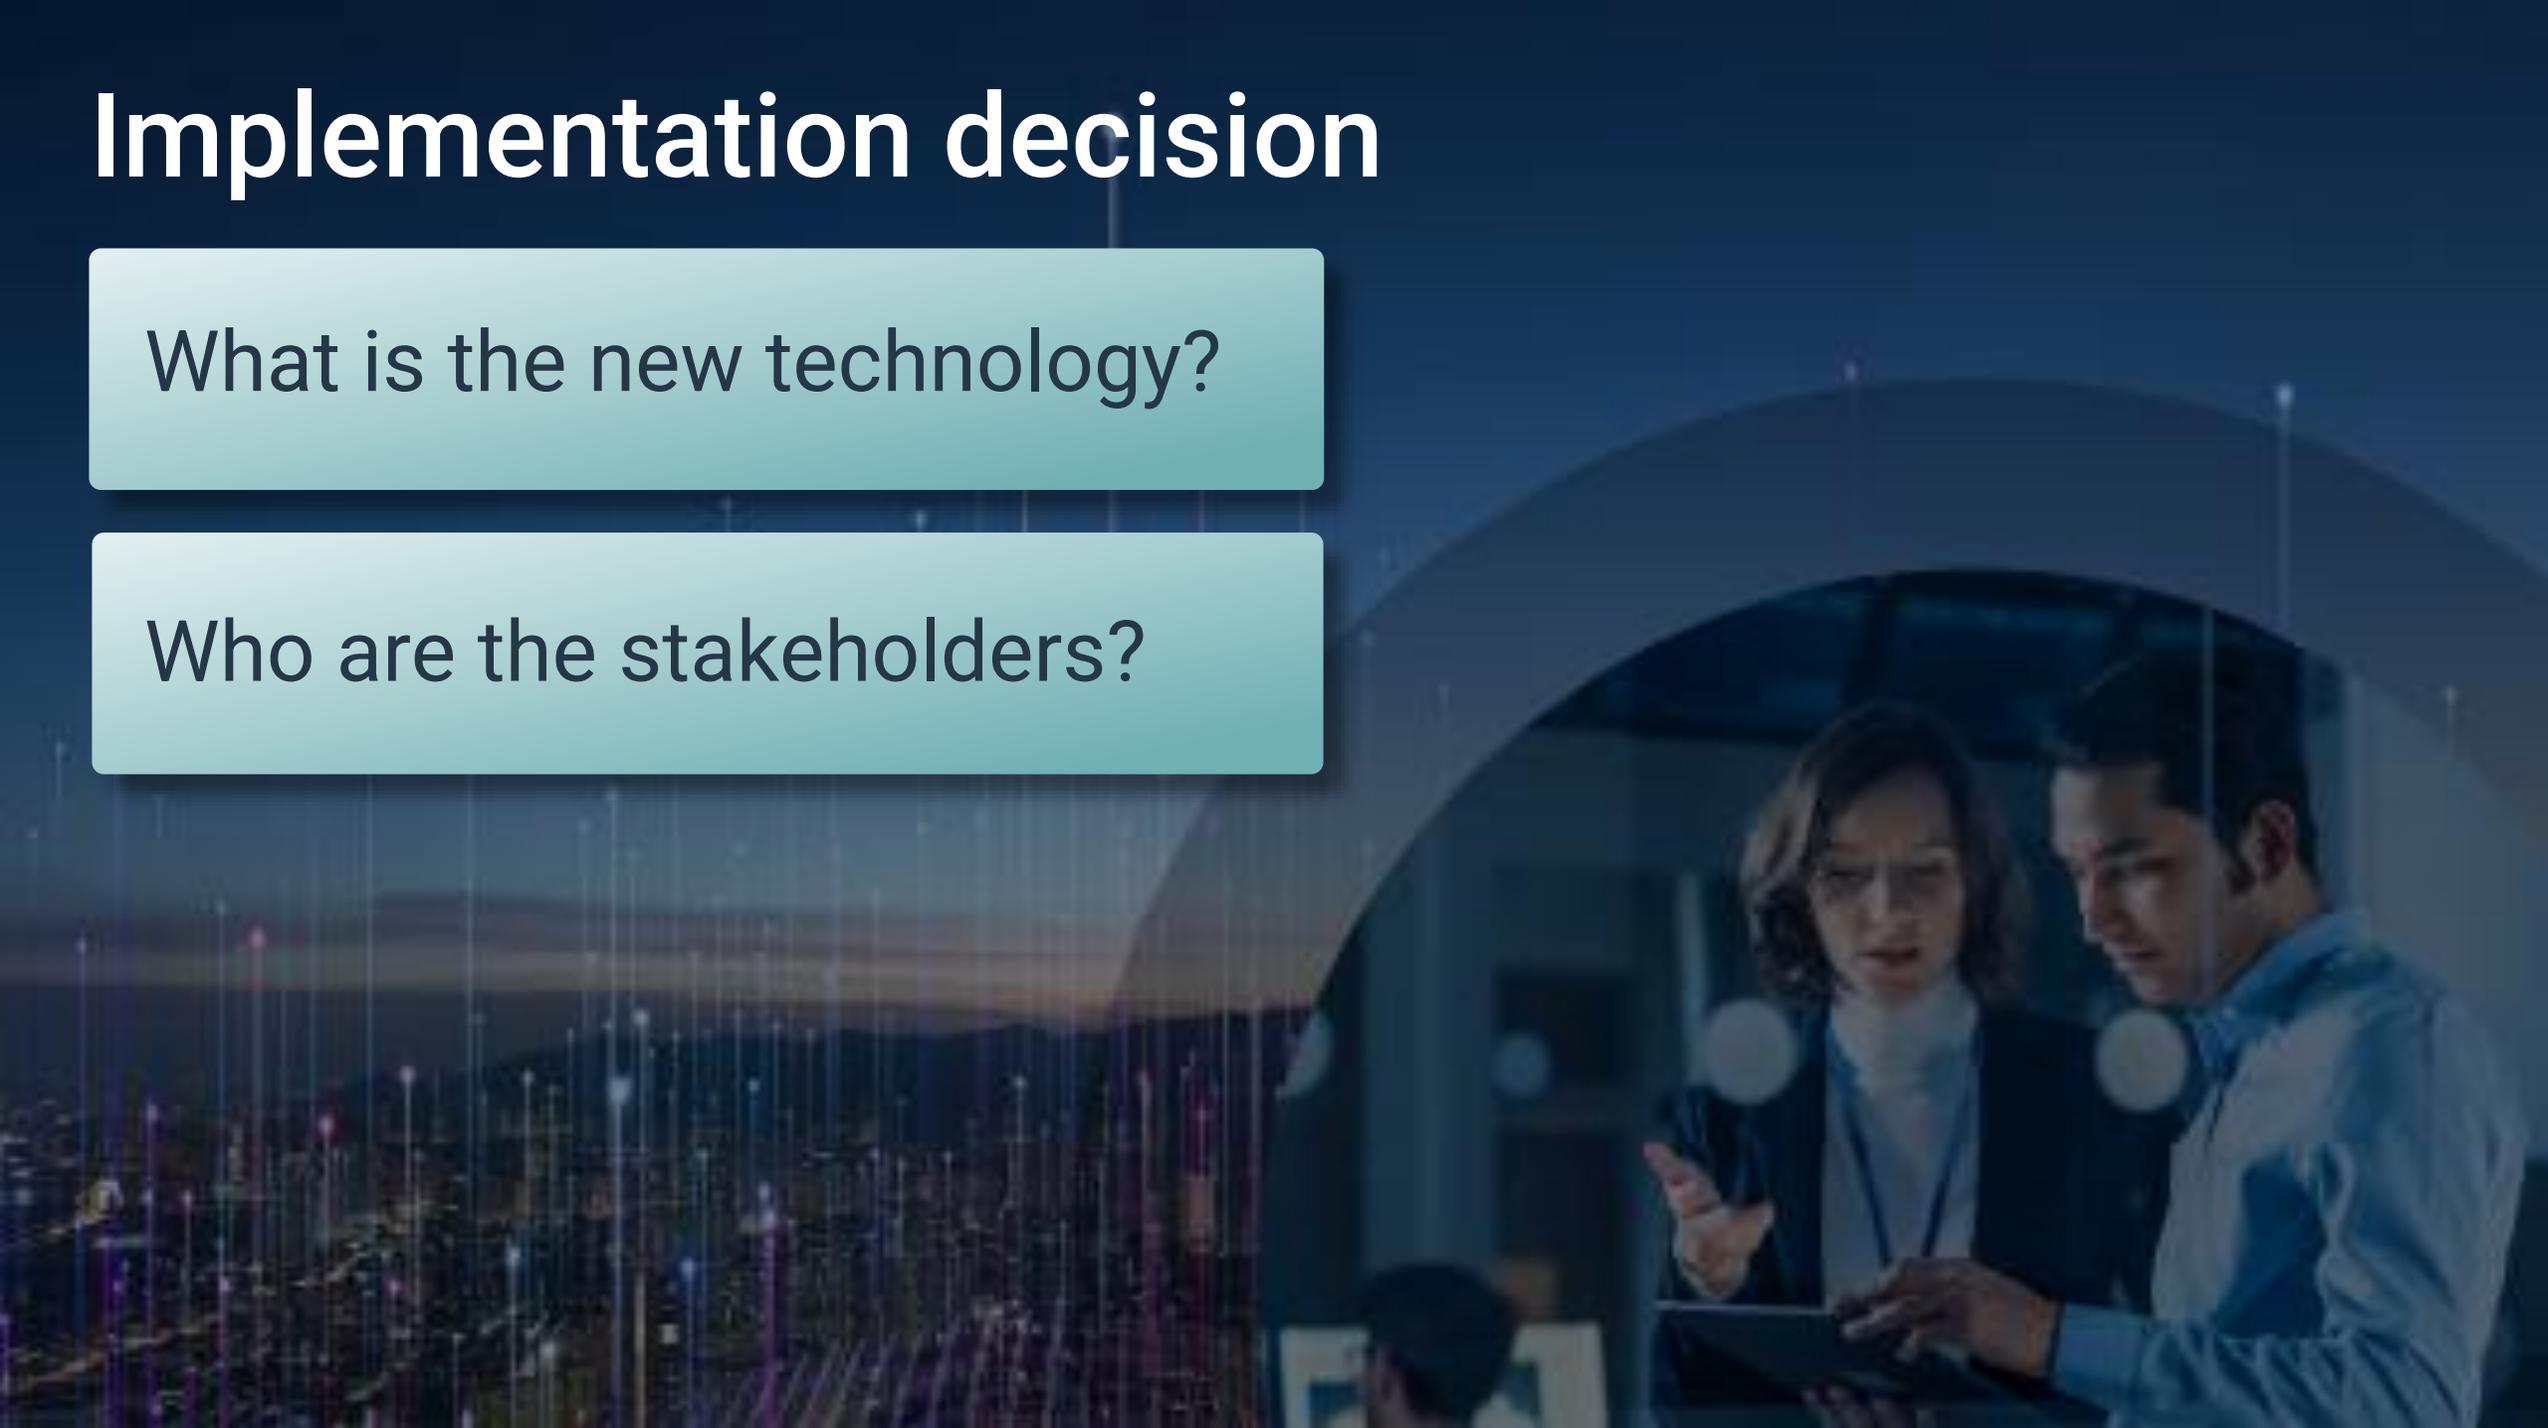

What is the new technology?

Poll

Where are you in your technology implementation journey?

Implementation decision

What is the new technology?

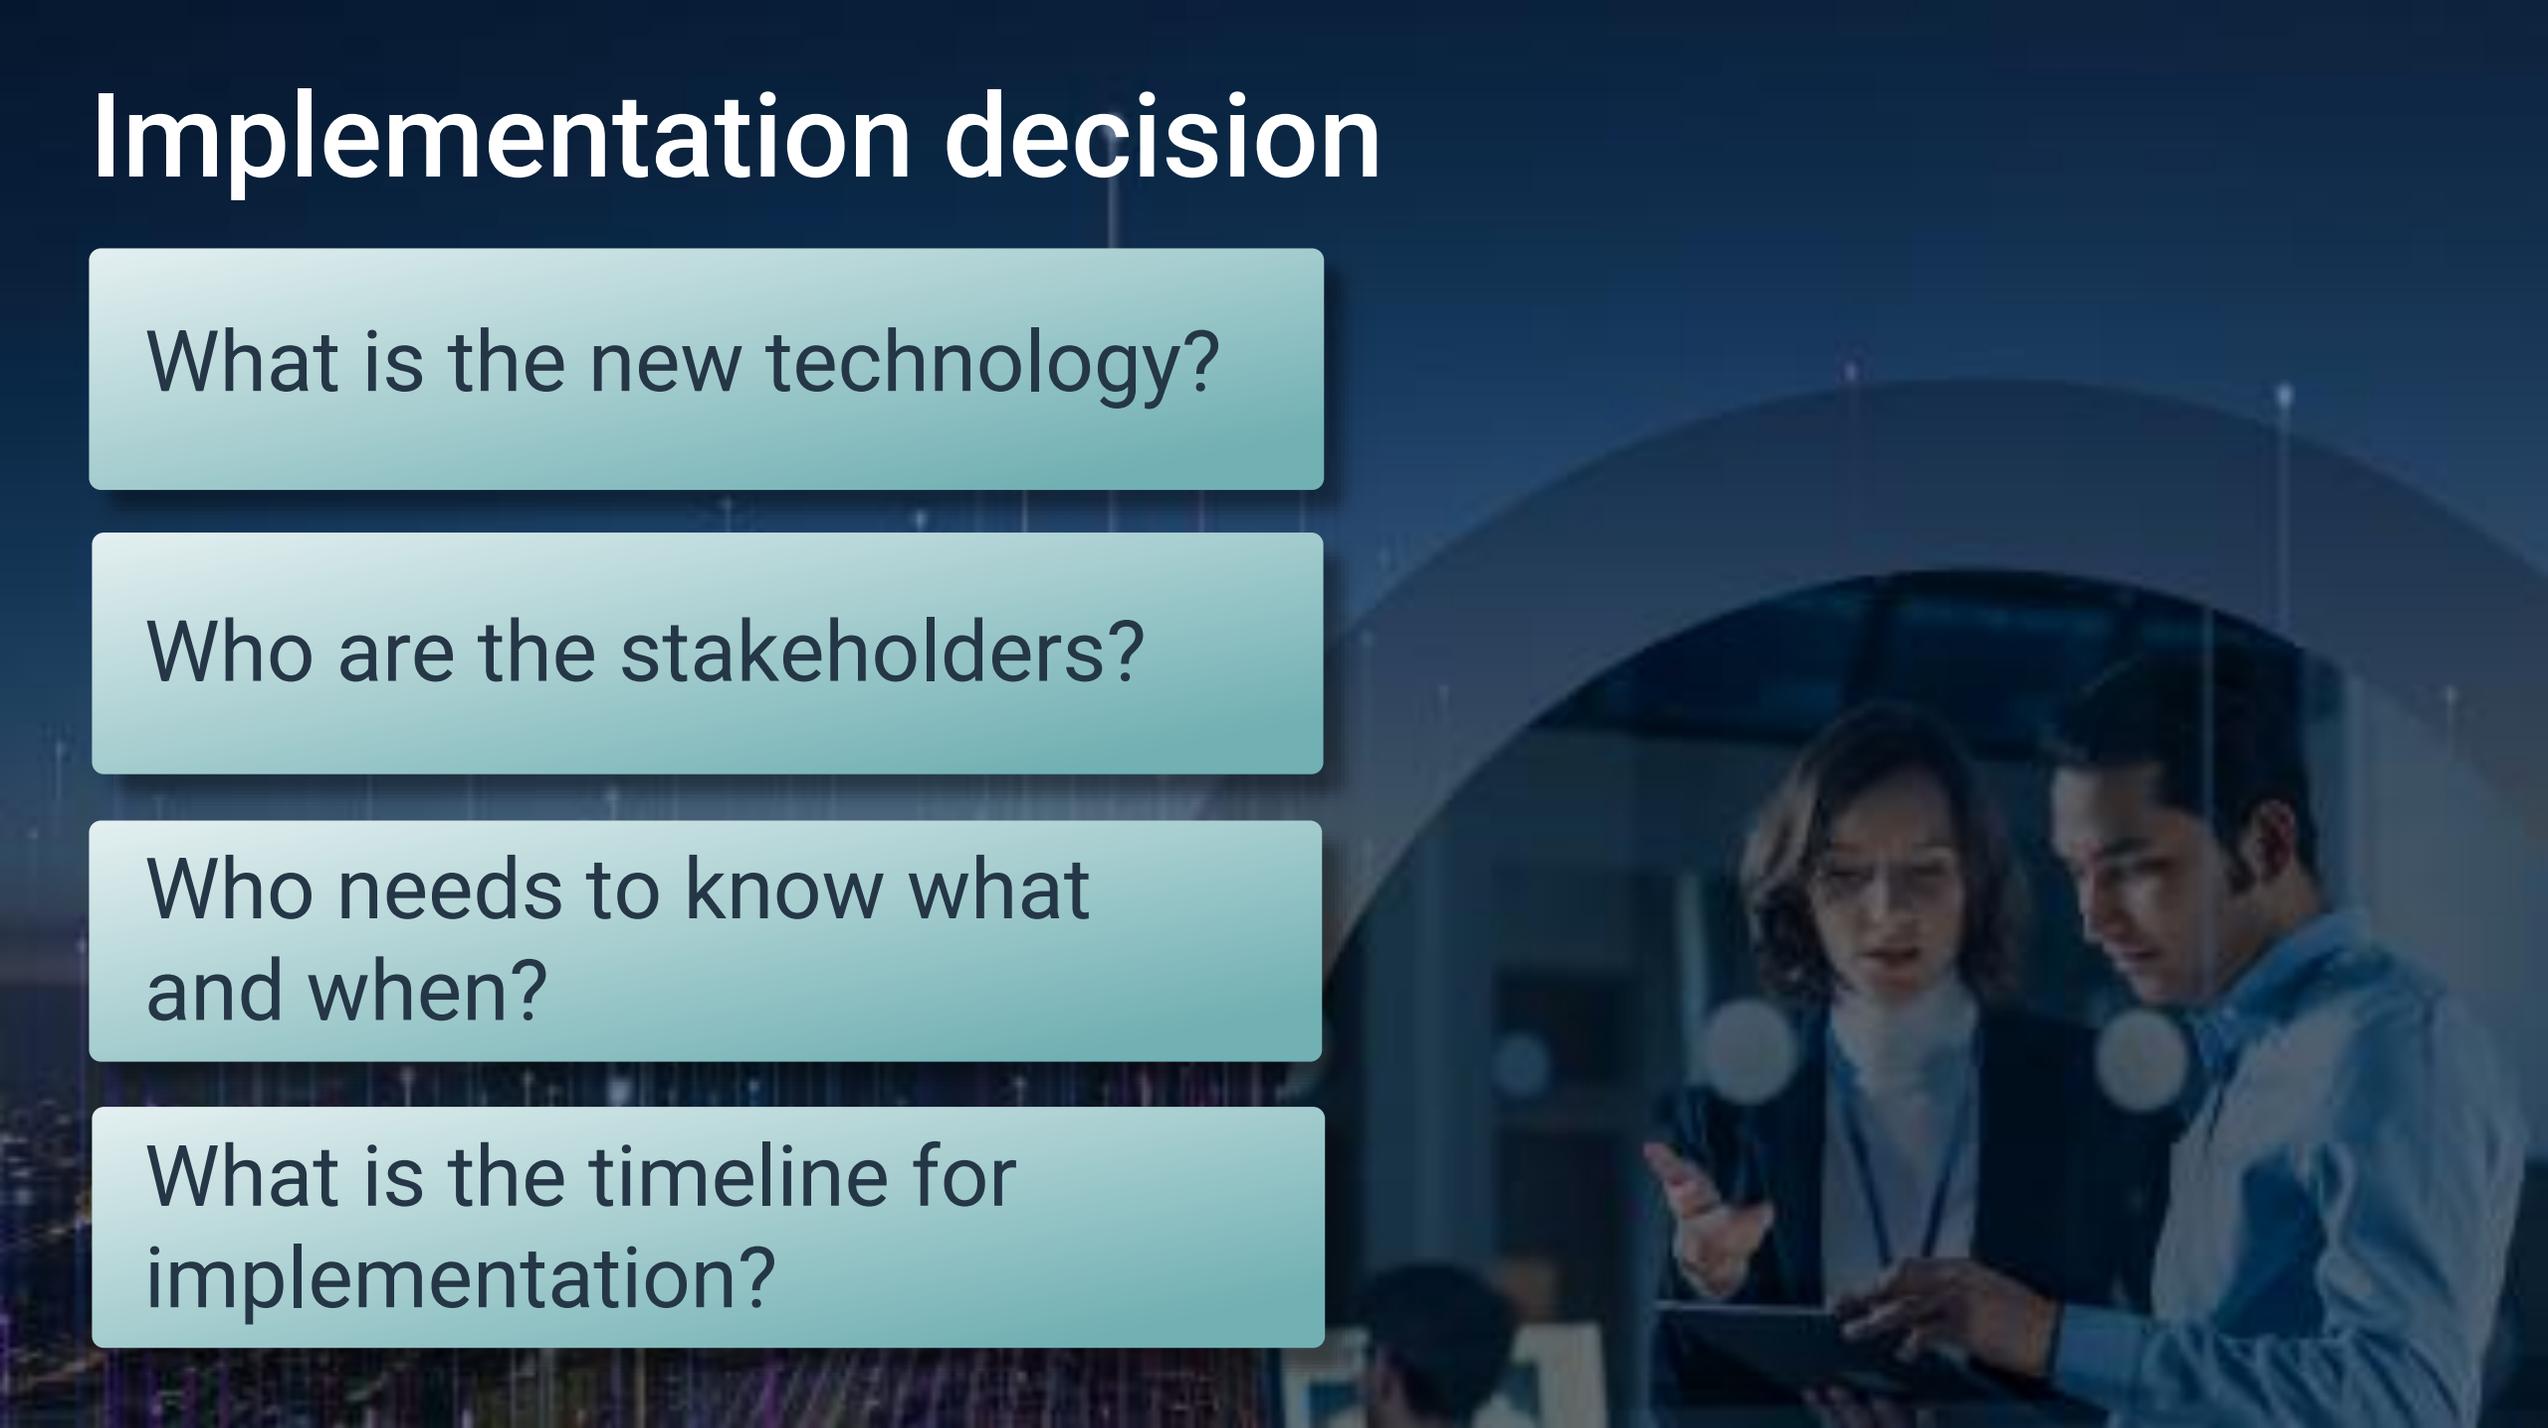

Who are the stakeholders?

Poll

What is your primary role in a technology implementation?

Implementation decision

What is the new technology?

Who are the stakeholders?

Who needs to know what and when?

What is the timeline for implementation?

Don't lose sight that change is difficult and not everyone will respond to change the same way.

Multi-site framework

Establish local champions

Standardize, then adapt

Centralized project management process

Information dissemination

Information is the glue that will hold the project together

Learn together

Reduce fatigue of overcommunication
and promote equity
among sites

Determine what stakeholders need what information and when

Effective implementation management

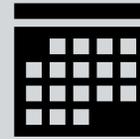

Reporting and information post-implementation

Validating information in available reports

Governance for reports being used

Who needs reports and when?

MONTHLY

- High-level milestones for executives
- Including any partnership data

WEEKLY

- Operational updates/changes
- Lessons learned for site leaders

- Success stories and tips of the week
- Front line staff

Q&A

Stop by our VBCExhibitHall.com Virtual Booth:

VBCExhibitHall.com

Visit the WellSky exhibit booth

Thank you!

cn-general@wellsky.com